

A-E CONTRACTING BULLETIN 97-11, 18 AUG 97

SUBJECT: Central Contractor Registration

1. We recently have had several inquiries from A-E firms and districts regarding the status of the Central Contractor Registration (CCR). This database, maintained by DoD, is a central registration point for all contractors, including A-E firms, who wish to do business with the Department of Defense. Originally, the deadline for registration in CCR was 30 September 1997. That date has been postponed to 31 March 1998.

2. The CCR is not a replacement in any way for ACASS. The contractor information maintained in CCR is very basic in nature, and is oriented toward electronic payment capabilities.

3. An Internet web site with CCR information, telephone support numbers and registration form can be reached at the following URL:

4. Other information regarding electronic commerce can be obtained from the DoD Acquisition Website for Electronic Commerce Integration at the following URL:
